RHONDA MCKENZIE FUND EXCEEDS ITS GOAL OF $10,000

Officers and board members of the Rhonda McKenzie Fund announce that the drive has topped its goal of $10,000.

A recent donation of $500 raised by the "Teen's Who Care Club" of East Hardin High School near Elizabethtown, Ky., topped the total donation to $10,339.74.

The drive was started last summer to assist the family of Little Rhonda McKenzie in meeting expenses incurred during a series of operations to correct the child's serious birth defects.

Little Rhonda has undergone seven successful operations thus far and is scheduled for another in November. The Fund Committee reports that to date, $6,291 has been spent to meet hospital bills and expenses.

The Fund's executive board and advisory board were to meet last night (Wednesday) to decide how best to use the remaining funds. Since no additional financial assistance will be needed until November, a spokesman said plans are to deposit the remaining donated funds in a savings account to draw interest.

Special guests at the meeting last night were Mr. and Mrs. Wallin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Wallin of West Liberty. The Courier will continue as space permits to publish the names of donors to the fund until the last is exhausted. (Continued on page two)

Morgan Court Ends After Short Session

Ora Bolin's Son Held In Assult On Him May 10h

The May term of Morgan Circuit Court was concluded Monday after a seven-day term.

The term was speeded when Earl Ray Perkins and Wesley Hibbens entered pleas of guilty in the fatal beating of Mrs. Rissie Steele Day at her country home near West Liberty, a case that was expected to consume several days.

Perkins pleaded guilty to murder and was given a life sentence Wednesday of last week by a jury of eight men and four women. Hibbens pleaded guilty to voluntary manslaughter in the case and was sentenced to 21 years in prison by Judge W. Major Gardner.

Commonwealth Attorney Ralph N. Walter explained that after various conferences with the defendants and their attorneys and with members of the dead woman's family, agreement had been reached for Perkins to plead guilty to murder with a recommendation from the Commonwealth for a life sentence, and Hibbens to plead guilty to voluntary manslaughter with a recommendation from the Commonwealth for the maximum sentence of 21 years in prison. Walter said he had agreed to amending Hibbens' indictment because he was convinced Hibbens did not premeditate his action but went to the day home without knowing what Perkins planned and also because Hibbens had cooperated fully with officers and had cleared up several unknown facts in the case.

Perkins and Hibbens were taken to Lagrange this week by Sheriff James Brooks to commence serving their sentences.

The case of Hershel Blair, 25, of White Oak, indicted by the February grand jury as being an accessory before the facts in the murder and robbery of Mrs. Day, was continued to the October term on motion of defense attorney George Chad Perry of Paintsville.

Perry pointed out that the entire jury panel had heard the pleas of guilty entered by Perkins and Hibbens and the Commonwealth Attorney's statement of the case, and thus could not sit as an unbiased juror in Blair's case. He cited a similar case that had been reversed by the Court of Appeals and Judge Gardner granted a continuance. Blair remains at liberty under bond to await trial in October.

Trophy winner and their 36-hole scores were as follow—

First Place, Bernard Murphy, 159.

Second, Wayne Webb, 163.

Third, Ray Mitchell, 167.

Consolation round winners were—

First, Marling Potter, 174.

Second, Billy Lynn Nickell,

Third, Ken Blanton, 181.

A sudden death playoff determined the third place winner of the consolation round.

Ken Blanton, Gerald Amyx, and George Scott tied with 181 each, and after the first hole, Ken Blanton emerged the winner.

Wayne Webb won a prize of six new golf balls for the clos-

Charles Lewis, Jr., and Gary Bishop guilty of breaking and entering the warehouse of Licking River Limestone Company last January and meted sentences of one year to each defendant. Their sentences were probation on condition that they make restitution for the property taken from the warehouse.

Grand Jury Indicts Bolin

The grand jury made its final report Monday, returning 21 indictments.

Among the indictments was on charging Denzil Bolin with armed assault upon his father, Ora Bolin, 69, with intent to rob.

The elder Bolin had been knocked in the head while watching television in his home on Lick Branch May 10. He was seriously wounded and taken to a Lexington hospital in a coma. He since has been removed to a convalescent home.

State Police and Sheriff Brooks investigated the case for several days.

BERT COMBS AND TOM EMBERTON WIN IN MORGAN

Total of 3,219 Go To Polls, 375 Less Than 4 Yrs. Ago

Voting was moderate in Morgan County Tuesday as citizens gave big majorities to former Gov. Bert T. Combs and Republican Tom Emberton for the Democratic and Republican nominations for Governor.

Morgan County Democrats rolled up a majority of 1,068 for former Gov. Combs over Lieut. Gov. Wendell Ford. The vote was—Combs 1,895, and Ford 827.

Emberton, 39-year-old former aide to Gov. Louis B. Nunn, polled 165 votes in Morgan for the Republican nomination over token opposition. Emberton had the backing of Nunn and the state administration, and the other candidates for the G.O.P. nomination got less than a dozen votes among them—Martin 7, Prather 1, and Hamlin 1.

A total of 3,219 votes were polled in Morgan county this year but only 3,022 of them voted in the two primaries for governor. This is 375 fewer than the 3,397 who voted in the 1967 governor's primaries,

OBITUARY

LINDON . . .

The night of December 11, 1950, a third child came to bless the home of Raymond and Gildron Cravens Lindon of Adele, to whom they gave the name Ronnie Lee. He departed this life on April 13, 1971.

Ronnie grew up at home under the care of a hard working father and a faithful mother, and in the happy company of his brothers and sisters. He attended Cannel City Grade school, Hazel Green Academy and Morgan County High School. Along with his family he early in life attended Sunday School and church at Adele, where he was taught the love of Jesus Christ.

On February 23, 1968, Ronnie and Rita Laverne Fallen of Cannel City were joined in marriage. They had the joy of becoming the parents of two daughters, Leach Michelle and Rhonda Shane.

Prior to his death he was involved in working with his father and older brother in the logging business.

Today, we as relatives and friends, extend our sympathy to his survivors:

His wife, Laverne; his daughters, Leah Michelle and Rhonda Shane; His parents, Ray and Gildron Lindon; His sisters, Mrs. Georgia Estes of Wilmington, Ohio and Lisha at home; his brothers, Vernon of Cannel City and Mike, Rod, Rick and Terry at home; his maternal grandmother, Cora Bailey; his paternal grandmother, Minnie Lou Lindon; one niece, Heather, and one nephew, Chuck.

Along with his family and all his other relatives, his many friends in the home community and elsewhere, will greatly miss Ronnie, and long cherish his memory. His life — though brief — will be forever meaningful to each of us.

The Morgan High lads downed Ezel, 13-1 last Thursday, and edged Johnson Central, 4-3, in nine innings Friday to cop the tourney crown. In the process, the Devils played 16 innings while committing only two errors.

Winning pitchers were Jerry Jackson, who allowed Ezel only three hits, and Delbert Jackson, who allowed only four hits to Johnson Central.

In the Ezel game, Jerry Jackson fanned 14 batters while his teammates swatted out 14 hits.

Delbert Jackson struck out 15 Johnson Central batters while the Devils collected 15 hits from pitchers, Mike Butcher and reliever Salyers.

In the championship game, the score was tied 3-3, at the end of the regulation seven innings. The Devils, trailing, 3-2, scored the tieing run in the top of the sixth on a pop fly by Delbert Jackson. The winning run came in the top of the ninth.

Johnson Central gained the final by defeating Warfield, 17-3, and Paintsville, 1-0, in a semi-final thriller.

The Blue Devils were to play Rowan County in the regional tournament at Morehead at 9 a.m. Wednesday. Eight teams are participating in the tourney. Besides Morgan and Rowan they are Phelps vs. Prestonsburg, Pikeville vs. Clark County, and Russell vs. Ashland.

AFTER 10 CONVENTIONS, KENTUCKY ADMITTED AS STATE JUNE 1, 1792

It was a long, hard struggle, but we finally made it on June 1, 1792, and Kentucky became the fifteenth of the young United States of America.

It took 10 conventions, beginning with the first at Danville in 1784, to wrap up the formal admission. As the Virginia historian, Mann Butler, has recorded:

"Nor can there in the whole history of American Government be found a career of such multiplied disappointments and abortive assemblies as the labors of Kentucky to be admitted into the Union."

The first convention had to concern itself with repelling Indian attacks but through that and all the other pre-statehood conventions, Kentuckians demonstrated deep regard for established law and did not take the available short cuts to independence from Virginia.

Virginia, incidentally, was far less than pleased about giving up her "Western territory" but the Kentuckians persisted in their petitions to the Virginia Legislature rejecting various extra-legal courses which they might have taken.

James Monroe did not believe Kentucky needed a separate government until he visited here in 1785. Thomas Jefferson opposed our statehood, contending Virginia had been liberal to give us representation in her Legislature in 1776 and that separation would diminish Virginia's prestige. This latter view proved correct.

It should be remembered that, in our early days, the Virginia capitals — first Williamsburg and then Richmond — were many days distant from the Kentucky settlements. Kentuckians even had to forego court appeals because they could not travel that far to make them. And further, Virginia politicians to the east were passing laws which had little applicability and drew little approval in Kentucky. Worst of all, Virginians were becoming obnoxious especially since Kentuckians were the ones holding the territory against the Indians with little help from Virginia. At the third convention in 1785 General James Wilkinson aroused the delegates with his assertion that there was no difference between Great Britain's colonial taxes and those being imposed by Virginia.

OBSERVATIONS • AND • PREDICTIONS

WHITE LIQUOR — One of Kentucky's biggest distilleries, Brown & Foreman Distillers Corp. of Louisville seems to be going all out for light dry (white) liquor. Brown & Foreman recently announced it was introducing a new white liquor, "8/80 Frost," at a cost of $6 million. And this week Brown & Foreman has agreed to purchase the Canadian whisky import, Brown & Foreman, found from a nationwide survey that lady drinkers like a light dry liquor, thus their new Kentucky brand "8/80 Frost." Will other Kentucky distilleries follow the lead or will they continue to push Kentucky Bourbon?

AD INDUSTRY SAGS — Current ad spending budgets were prepared late last year by the big corporations, and they cut them considerably due to the recession and gloomy economic news. As a result, advertising industry unemployment is the worst in history, says the Wall Street Journal. Many top ad men are walking the streets or in other businesses. One big ad agency that handles national contracts for television and big dailies formerly operated with 10 employees cut back to 5 per million. Ad sales of billings, but now has back to 5 per million. And the firm now is in the process of reducing its force to 4 per million, says the Journal.

PERSONALITY FIGHT — James Host, Gov. Nunn's vice-chairman for the Republican nomination for Lieut. Governor, appeared on a Lexington television station a few minutes after the TV showed Combs conceding defeat to Ford. Tuesday night. Asked what he thought happened in the upset victory of Ford over Combs, the Ashland-born Host said, "The Democratic primary finally developed into a personality affair between Ford and Combs, and this may have turned the people off." He said the Republicans would present policies in the coming contest, and would avoid personalities.

REAL AMERICAN
One reason the Indians saw so much beauty in early America was that they didn't use billboards in their sign language — Wall Street Journal.

NEWS SUMMARY

By Gary G. Hudleston

RAIL — Gov. Louie B. Nunn said the solution to the rail industry's current problem does not lie in a federal takeover of the nation's railroads, and called for innovations and concern "before it is too late" for the companies to help themselves. The remarks came in an address before the 55th annual Spring Conference of the Southeastern Commissions in Louisville.

POLICE — Governor Nunn announced four Crime Commission grants to improve police communications systems in the state. Two of the grants, to Newport ($59,409) and $49,695 for Elizabethtown, Muldraugh

Radcliff, Vine Grove and West Point, will go toward establishment of major regional radio networks in the two areas Owensboro and Maysville received lesser amounts for a training center and portable radio respectively.

RULING — The Court of Appeals held that the state can't suspend a person's driver's license if the drunk-driving conviction on which that action was based is in question or under appeal. The high court also upheld the state's obscenity law and the conviction of a book store dealer in McCracken Circuit Court under it.

INDUSTRY — Commerce Commissioner Paul W. Grubbs said he credits a stepped-up advertising program by his agency and research into new energy sources with keeping Kentucky "in the forefront among states" in terms of industrial development. He said his most successful advertising campaign, refinancing under the Kentucky plan, had led to 150 leads, and brought four companies to the state.

Maybe Your Advertising Should Linger Longer

A LOT OF ADVERTISING DOESN'T

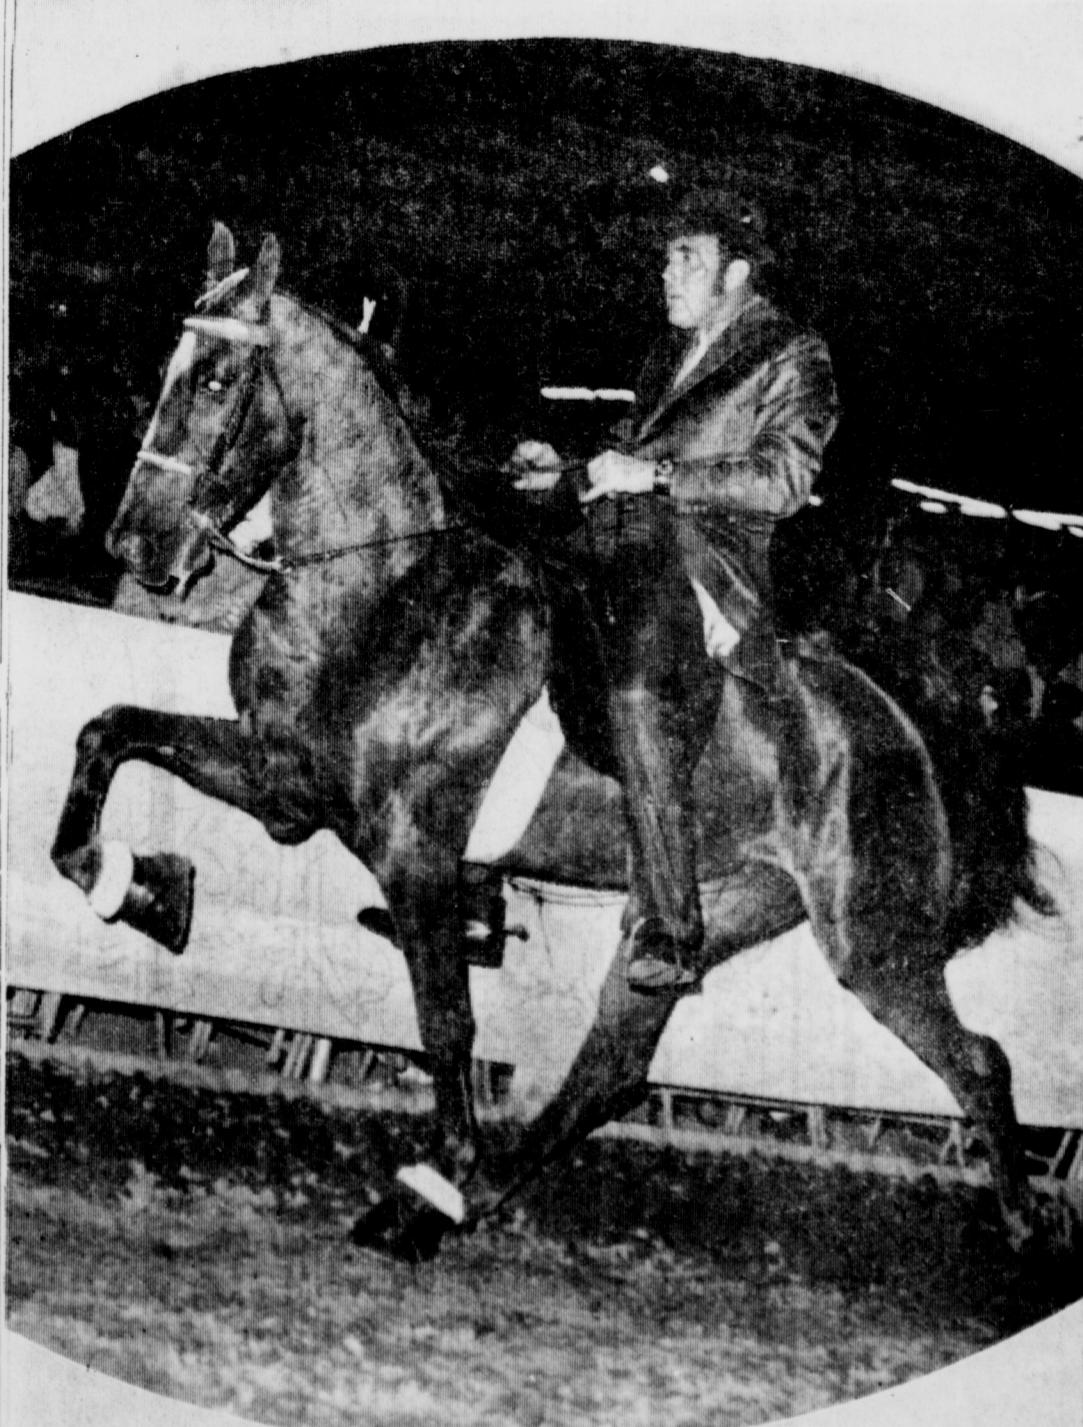

Every week 2,019 Morgan homes get The Courier on Thursday and they keep it around — keep it to refer to dates, meetings, sales, and the hard facts they need to know about the County and its affairs.

Yes, they keep THE COURIER around the home longer . . . that is unless a neighbor borrows it.

CAN YOU THINK OF A BETTER PLACE TO HAVE YOUR ADVERTISING?

(The Courier's press run is 3,750, and 2,019 go into Morgan homes, the remainder to former residents and service men.)

B Major's Gal, owned by Adkins and Redwine Stables of near Sandy Hook, won the Junior Walking Horse State Championship at Huntington, W. Va. Saturday, May 15. The mare, termed "outstanding" by judges, is ridden by Mike Oppenheimer, trainer for the Elliott County stables. Two other horses from the Adkins and Redwine Stables also won their classes at the Junior League Horse Show. They were Democrat Copy, a black three-year-old stud, and a black five-year-old mare, Senorita, ridden by Mike Oppenheimer, which won the juvenile class. Senorita also tied for first place in another class. The horses were trained and shown by Mike Oppenheimer.

(The Wolf County News)

C. F. Ahrendt, Dayton, Ohio, treasure hunter and electronic metal detector, and his son, Kurt, spent Saturday in Wolfe County.

Mr. Ahrendt and son have been in this area on different occasions, listening to stories concerning buried and hidden treasure, and checking out leads. Saturday, they visited with Mr. Dale Pence, who took them to strange and mysterious areas on the Pence farm. They also visited the Taylor Booths.

Mr. Ahrendt brought with him several of his success at recovering lost articles, including around 90 class rings, all of which contained beautiful stones of rich and varied colors, and around 100 wedding bands, all different, and many with exquisite engravings. Inscribed in one was the date 1887 and the name "Effie Houston."

Dates on the class rings ranged from 1928 to recent years.

Mr. Ahrendt said he had recovered more than 1,000 friendship rings. He searches on beaches, lakes pools, rivers, and does scuba diving. He has also been successful in recovering coins, and said he has found 25 times as many coins as rings.

He also searches and probes for buried or hidden treasure and a percentage is given on productive leads.

That's worth believing—

HOME PLACE

BY MARY A. ENGLE

I went to the old home place to see my dear mother. It was there

Where I was born and raised, And while I was there The Lord came and took her

To dwell in that city So beautiful and fair.

My father and my brother Had gone on before her

To dwell in that city That is made four-square,

And I know it won't be long Till I will be with them And we will all be together In that city so fair,

I have other loved ones Who have gone on to glory,

And we will meet and have A grand reunion up there Where we will ever be around The throne of our dear Savior.

In that beautiful city foursquare, The Bible speaks of that beautiful city

At await us up there, It tells of the joy We will all have in heaven In that beautiful city four square.

HILL TOWN HAS 50 MILLIONAIRES; NOT ALL HILLBILLIES ARE PAUPERS

Many Live The Good Life Due To Quick Profits In Mining

PIKEVILLE, Ky. — Forget the folklore that everyone in Appalachia is a poor, barefoot mountain.

This town of 4,700 is a pocket of wealth and riches, resting incongruously in the heart of one of the nation's poorest regions.

Consider, for example, a population that local bankers say has more than 50 millionaires and claims 25 doctors, 35 lawyers, a Cadillac dealership with a walking list and a $7 million hotel under construction.

Add to that description 20 swimming pools, three banks with deposits totaling more than $100 million and the likelihood that a beginning doctor can earn $35,000-$50,000 his first year of practice and you've got a more accurate picture of this coal town near the Eastern Kentucky border.

These are the "good-livers," as they are called here who live much the same—or better —than their counterparts in the traditionally wealthy suburbs of the U.S.

They don't mind being called hillbillies, but are disturbed by the picture that name presents.

"Our image is a real problem. Everyone thinks that everyone here lives in a log cabin in some hollow," said attorney Henry D. Stratton, who lives in a new $100,000 home.

"It hurts us economically. No industry wants to move into a place that sounds like that... some insurance companies won't even insure anything here," he added.

Who has the money? Where does it come from?

"The coal people and everyone they do business with—the doctors, the lawyers, the merchants, everyone," claimed insurance executive Walter Walters as he turned his new Lincoln Continental into the Bowles Addition, Pikeville's classiest subdivision.

Passing homes ranging in value from $35,000 to $200,000, he observed, "When the coal business is good, everyone's business is good. It spreads out all over town."

Last year was a good year for coal. The assets of Pikeville National Bank & Trust, for example, grew more than $20 million during 1970 as a result of a coal boom that brought hints of prosperity to Eastern Kentucky the last two years, created new rich and made many old rich that much richer.

"We haven't had the extremely wealthy people here in the $10 to 100 million dollar class that you do in Louisville," said Pikeville National Bank President Robert B. Johnson. "But we do have a great number of people who are well to do."

His wife, Bryan, sat beside their swimming pool and noted, "we have indigent people like everyone else and some of them need help. But we don't have any more than anyone else despite what you read."

The latest census figures available show 52.6 per cent of the people in surrounding Pike County have incomes below the federal poverty line of $3,200 for a family of four.

Mrs. Oscar Sowards, past president of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs and herself a world traveler, says she and her husband could sell their home for $75,000 and move if they wanted.

"It would be easier for both of us, but we like it here.

Besides, she added, Pikeville has a lot to offer, including a four-year college, a concert series, good business opportunities, fine stores and a bevy of civic clubs.

"If someone asks me where I'm from, I'm proud to say, 'Oh, I'm just an ol' Kentucky hillbilly,'" she says.

Wall Street Journal Ups Its Subscription Price Due To Postage

The Wall Street Journal, six-day-a-week daily covering business news, announced last week it would increase its subscription price by $3 effective soon.

"The subscription-rate increase is directly related to sizable postage increases," said the publisher. The Journal had increased its subscription by $2 last October for "reasons related to general increases in the cost of doing business and our objective to produce a quality product," he said.

Second class postage rates were increased an average of 23% on May 16 by the new post office corporation.

REAL AMERICAN

A racket is any form of making money without giving worthwhile service in return.

DEFINITION

One reason the Indians saw so much beauty in early America was that they didn't use billboards in their sign language — Wall Street Journal.

Publicity, like fire, can be friend or foe.

CAUGHT AGAIN

Nowadays Pop no sooner gets his daughter off his hands than he has to get his son-in-law on his feet.

IN MEMORY

In memory of Roy Adkins, who parted this life May 8, 1946 —

It has been 25 long years since he left us and went on to rehip his reward. Oh, Daddy, we miss you so much. Daddy, at the time God called you I could not understand why you had to leave us. But now I know it was God's will to take you. So now, Daddy, your working days are over, but your love and kind words are still with us. You are sadly missed by all.

Your wife, Prudie and children Mabel, Mazzie, Eva and Ivory.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE

SENIORS of MORGAN COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL

We are honored to present these members of the 1970 graduating class of Morgan County High School. To the seniors and to their parents, who have worked hard to make this forthcoming moment of graduation possible, we say congratulations for a job well done. It is a time to set higher goals. To each graduate, let us urge you to continue your education in a university or college or in a field of specialized training. Your days at MCHS must be but a stepping stone to higher attainment. Set your sights. Choose carefully. Then seek your goal with determination, always remembering to maintain your high principles; for victories won at the sacrifice of principle are but hollow ones. Above all, continue to thank God for his help each step of the way as you realize your goals.
